From The Director

Good afternoon ISC,

June has arrived and that means the end is truly right around the corner. End-of-year ceremonies, activities, and events are underway and very soon it will be June 19th.

Today the lower elementary students hosted their annual Spring Concert in the gym (pictures next week!) and performed admirably. Thank you to the parents who attended and shared the experience with the rest of us. Congratulations once again to Mrs. Violenes and Mr. Sosa for a job well done; not only for today's performance, but for the many hours of teaching and preparing the students for their big day. Witnessing students' joy for singing, performing, and playing music is a wonderful thing. Thank you both for instilling the love of music into our students.

Don't forget this afternoon's PTA meeting to close out the year and elect new officers. 5:30 in the library.

To the class of 2017: Enjoy the graduation ceremony on Saturday. On behalf of the community, we wish you all the best in life after ISC. Good luck on your journey ahead!

Sincerely,

Douglas Vaughan
Director

High School News: Students of ISC- Gudr Al Ayouby

Why did you start Humans of ISC, and how was the overall experience?

"I started Humans of ISC because I felt that the ISC community needed a way to publicly express their feelings, their voices needed to be heard. And I am so proud of how this project has grown, and I am grateful to those of you who willingly participated in this project. The overall response from the ISC community has been very positive, and for that I say thank you. We've had people from all over the world connect and react towards these interviews. In an ever dividing world, I felt the need to create this project to bring this community closer together. Because I believe that when we are stronger together, we can be united in whatever challenge may come our way. I have truly enjoyed this experience, and I am committed to continue with this project in the next school year.

Have a wonderful summer vacation, and know that we are ready to continue where we left off in August. Thank you everyone!"
